SNIPPET:

*Delicate peat smoke meets salty maritime and floral heather honey.
Wonderfully complex, heady and enchanting. A singular cask.*

PANEL NOTES:

COLOUR: Deep old gold

NOSE: Soft, smoky initial maritime hit - from Lapsang tea to light iodine - washed over with a mineral, salty brine. The sweet fruitiness of candied orange and dried apricot develops into darker fruit like fresh figs and prunes in Armagnac, which leads to great savoury elements like new leather, pipe tobacco and toasted macadamias. Lightly floral and aromatic with notes of fresh roses, wild heather and jasmine tea.

TASTE: Lovely mouthfeel - both dense and smooth. Panettone to salted caramel and pure heather honey. Baked apples and golden raisins. Cigar box woodiness. Climbing intensity with the light peat smoke throughout. Dark and brooding. Long, lush finish.

IMPRESSION: A sophisticated and truly engaging malt that slowly draws you in to some dark smoky world, but keeps balance and lightness and becomes about the sum of its parts, rather than just peat, or fruit. One to take time over. Quite special.
