PANEL NOTES:

COLOUR: Mid gold.

NOSE: Initially, like a doctor's surgery in the '70's – iodine, bandages, carbolic – then more complex, menthol and aromatic. The medicinal morphs into meaty - like a bad Tarrantino movie - old butcher's block and heavily smoked ham. Salty. Intriguing smokiness intensifies – peat fire embers and newly snuffed out candles (with warm wax). Fresh walnuts.

PALATE: Smooth, oily texture. More warming peat than medicinal now. Rich, savoury/sweet, juicy-fruit. Lush bourbon vanilla wraps around the smoke. Light spice. Hint of rubber. Caraway seed. Smoked German sausages anyone?

FINISH: Great interplay of the smoky, savoury and the buttery. Rich, thick and aromatic. Long heather honey finish.
